Dr. Paul Couch is from Albuquerque, New Mexico and received his M.D. from the University of New Mexico School of Medicine in 1983. He then completed a four year residency in Anatomic and Clinical Pathology at Cedars-Sinai Medical Center in Los Angeles, followed by one year fellowships in Surgical Pathology at UCLA Medical Center in Los Angeles, Oncologic Surgical Pathology at Memorial-Sloan Kettering Cancer Center in New York, and in Dermatopathology at Thomas Jefferson University in Philadelphia with the world renowned dermatopathologist A. Bernard Ackerman, M.D.

Dr. Couch is board certified in Anatomic and Clinical Pathology, Cytopathology, and Dermatopathology and is a fellow in the College of American Pathologists. He has medical licenses in eight states including West Virginia, Ohio, and Kentucky.

Dr. Couch has 15 years of pathology practice experience including serving as staff pathologist in the Scripps Hospital system in San Diego, California and as staff pathologist at Presbyterian Hospital in Charlotte, North Carolina. He most recently served as Assistant Professor of Pathology and Cytology at St. Mary's Medical Center in Huntington, West Virginia.

Huntington Pathology is a locally owned and operated independent laboratory pathology practice providing diagnostic anatomic pathology services to the Tri-State area. Diagnostic services primarily include tissue biopsy evaluation from outpatient procedures including dermatology, gastroenterology, urology, and gynecology examinations, as well as evaluation of breast, oral, head and neck, ophthalmic, soft tissue, thyroid, lymph node, and podiatric biopsy specimens. Non-gynecologic cytology diagnostic services are also offered at Huntington Pathology including on-site performance and rapid evaluation of fine needle aspirations in the attending physician's office by Dr. Couch. Second opinions/consultations on pathology reports and slides from other laboratories are also available.
